

Organic rape honey

mild, floral

Bees are magically attracted to the yellow glowing rapeseed flowers with their beguiling scent. Our ancestors already knew about the importance of this valuable grazing plant. This mildly aromatic, delicately fruity honey comes from the Saale Valley adjacent to the Middle Elbe Biosphere Reserve. The honey is produced by our Sonnen- tracht apiary. Due to its high glucose content, rapeseed honey is a quick source of energy for peak athletic and mental performance. In the vernacular, it has been attributed positive aspects in relation to the heart, liver and respiratory tract.
